

Become a Master Recycler in Spring 2010

Jackson County Recycling Partnership & OSU Extension Service invite residents and business representatives to become Master Recyclers, gaining a broad understanding of waste prevention, recycling, the local solid waste infrastructure, hazardous waste avoidance, and composting. Join a 10-week training course that offers an extensive training manual, discussion-based classes, presentations from local and regional experts and field trips to relevant sites, including the regional landfill, waste-to-energy plant, composting facility and waste water treatment plant.

Master Recyclers are required to give 40 service hours to support and expand local waste diversion programs and projects. Weekly classes will take place on Tuesday evenings, March 2 – May 11, 5:30–8:30pm at the OSU Extension classroom, 569 Hanley Road. Applications are due Monday, February 1, 2010 and are available online at www.jcmasterrecyclers.org. For more information, contact OSU Extension Service at 541-776-7371.

Jackson County Recycling Directory

www.jcrecyclingdirectory.org

Find out how you can extend the life of natural resources close to home. Posted online, Jackson County Recycling Directory provides a list of recycling opportunities for homes and businesses to reduce waste and prevent pollution. From appliances, building materials, and electronics to paint, running shoes and yard debris, the Recycling Directory includes over 50 local recycling outlets beyond basic curbside collection service.

The City of Shady Cove is a member of Jackson County Recycling Partnership (JCRP), a consortium of solid waste companies, Jackson County, and a several local municipalities. JCRP works to educate County residents about recycling, waste prevention, hazardous waste avoidance and composting through the Recycling Directory and various other projects.
