An Open House will be held on September 20, 2010 from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the Edgewater Inn Conference Room, 7800 Rogue River Drive, Shady Cove, Oregon. The purpose of the Open House is to share information and invite questions and comments regarding the City of Shady Cove's Floodplain Management Program. This includes technical information regarding Jackson County's new Flood Insurance Study that will become effective in 2011, information about the National Flood Insurance Program, and details about the City's new proactive code enforcement program. Residents and stakeholders of Shady Cove's high-risk floodplain are encouraged to attend. The new Digital Flood Insurance Rate Maps will be available for review. Representatives from Oregon's Department of Land Conservation and Development (DLCD), FEMA Region X, and Public Works Management, Inc. will be available to answer questions.

The City also invites real estate agents, insurance agents, contractors, material suppliers, local utilities, and anyone that provides products and services to floodplain residents and business owners to participate in this annual event.
